volume 2

Laughing, talking, studying, learning, teaching, spirit, friends, teachers, extra activities, and many more things go into the making of a SCHOOL ON THE GO!

Through the doors of East Noble High School walk 800 eager and ready students each day. Along with them walk 43 even more eager and ready faculty members. We walk to our lockers, taking time to stop and chat with friends along the way. We pass quickly then, to an assigned room for attendance. At 8:30 we go to our first module class ready to settle down to business. As the day passes on there are many visitors who come in to see our school and how it is run. The Independent Study system is what really fascinates these visitors. Look around anywhere and you will see students busy at work, walking around the halls, sitting in the office waiting to see about a schedule change, or talking to one of the teachers about anything from a past lecture to who will win the ball game that night.

Starting at 11:00 each day we take time out to eat lunch. During this time we listen to the latest records and catch up on the news for that day.

This is not all that goes into the making of a busy school. Each year we are trying something new and different to try and make our school one of the best. It is always on the way up in everything from the latest teaching and education facilities to the earliest in innovated methods.

Although we are only a part of this school for a short time we shall never forget the laughing, talking, studying, learning, teaching, spirit, friends, teachers, extra activities, and the others that made ours a SCHOOL ON THE GO!

it was a nice summer but it is Senior composition teacher, Mr. Robert Farmer, is one of the many new faces that people saw on the first day of school.

There is mass confusion at the bulletin board as students try to find their attendance room number.

This peaceful scene was the hall of East Noble on September 7, 1967, at 7:59 a.m.

good to be back

After getting their schedules, juniors Peggy Pepple and Debi Buell hurry to get to their first class.

Nearly everyone is busy on the first day of school and the principal, Mr. Royal Tritch, is no exception. Here he answers one of the many phone calls he receives.

The warm, friendly, care-free summer of 1967 passed by much too quickly. Working at summer jobs, going to camps and workshops, taking vacations; everyone was on the go all summer. Now once again, it is time to close the exciting feeling of summer and time to open the books for another year. September 7, 1967, arrives and students approach East Noble High School with mixed emotions about studying and learning. For some the East Noble Plan is an entirely different method of learning; for others it is not new, but still holds new and different techniques and methods for them.

Juniors Gary Lewellen, Jack Ritchie, Terry Frick, Lance Harman, and Wes Herczeg talk about the fun they had during summer vacation.

variety of experiences makes east

Lunch provides students with the opportunity to get together. Seniors Cindy Ream and Cindy Huff seem to be having a great time during their lunch module discussing a very important subject. East Noble students are scheduled for any one of the four lunch modules between 11 and 12:30.

Mr. Gene Rhodes and Miss Jacqueline Carl are hard at work figuring out the 1967-68 schedules. This project is very complicated and requires a great amount of consecration. It all begins with students signing up for their desired classes and then they are processed and returned to the school.

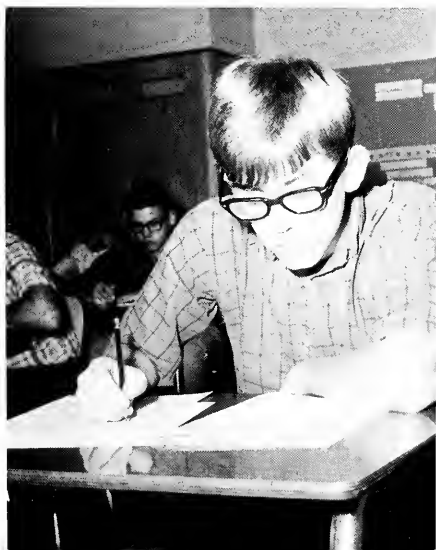

noble a challenge

Kendallville had the honor of meeting Mrs. Joseph Kennedy. Mrs. Kennedy arrived to campaign for her son's nomination for the presidency. Even though she was an hour late, Mrs. Kennedy's speech was heard by many.

Sophomore Dennis Mapes seems to be concentrating very hard on the Standard Achievement test.

A student at East Noble encounters a variety of experiences. School life is much more than what a visitor might see as he tours the building. Students frequently occupy the gym area, or the individual rooms that are open. They can spend "free" time in the cafeteria, library, and independent study laboratory. In all probability nobody appreciates all aspects of the school, but certainly there are some parts which everyone can find enjoyable. This year several notable speakers came to the school. Students learned from famous writers, politicians, and businessmen, as well as from many qualified teachers. The students also could learn from each other as they met informally in the cafeteria commons. There are some aspects of the school which can challenge anyone.

The publications room was crowded with underclassmen on the day that class pictures arrived. The Legend staff was kept busy all morning with the distribution on the class pictures.

Students Jeff Hughes, as "Mrs. Coyote," and Gary Thrapp, as "Mr. Weed," were two of the many students who led cheers at the sectional pep session. Assistant Principal Max Brewer injected school spirit into the already excited student body.

spirit and enthusiasm draw school

The East Noble Knight rides again making a trip around the school at the close of a seven-hour day. Many various activities helped to maintain the 1967-68 school spirit. Posters and displays both in school and in the uptown stores told the many fans of the coming events. Booster buttons and a snake dance represented the enthusiasm displayed through class spirit banners. Pep rallies featured a variety of spirit types: cheerleader skits, lettermen's skit, teacher yells, pep club senior girl's skit. Our symbol, the antique knight, greets the students each morning as they pass to their locker. Seniors took high honors by keeping the spirit stick three times, with the juniors and sophomores receiving it only once. All of this enthusiasm helped to lead East Noble to success in many different fields.

One of the projects of the E.N. student body and Student Council was the purchase of our "Knight". Everyone worked together to provide our school with an honorable mascot.

Mr. Royal Tritch accepts the NEIAC conference football trophy from Mr. Darrell Casey. This was one of the many trophies for sports granted to E.N. this year. This was achieved by the co-operation of teachers, coaches and student body.

community together and bring results

The ride of the E.N. armorless Knight began the Student Council's campaign for our Knight in shining armor. Jane Pankop and Gene LaVigne were brave enough to cooperate and make the beginning of the drive a success.

students achieve responsibility

The Audio-Visual Department works under the direction of Mr. Dale Reade, and serves the seven schools in the corporation. The office help is composed of fifteen volunteers who give up one or two free modules to assist with the errands of East Noble High School. They serve the Student Personnel Center and the General Office, assisting a total of four secretaries along with other office directors. Their jobs include assisting with typing, alphabetizing, mimeographing, and delivering messages to students.

Office girl Sherry Page is using the mimeo-graph machine to run off an important piece of information for one of the secretaries. All the work is done during the girls' free modules.

through practical experiences

Senior Dan Ihrie copies a tape in the department. Other jobs are drying and laminating materials, and lettering for bulletin boards and posters.

Mr. Dale Reade develops a picture in the office. Some of the jobs are copying tapes, maintaining and delivering equipment, and taking and developing pictures.

independent study time gives students

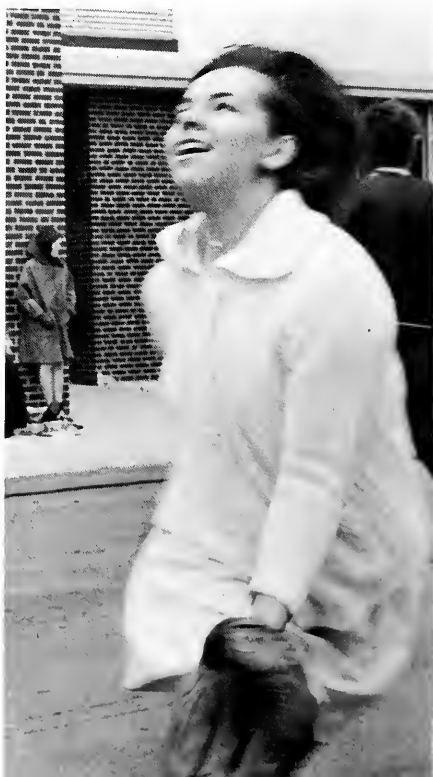

Seniors Vickie Rehwinkel, Charlene Rhodes, and Mary Jane Renkenberger study in the I.S. Lab as a group.

Darlene Stanley, Ivan Blanchard, Nancy Fischer, and Lucy Teders find it easier to study by asking questions.

Although the concept of Independent Study was put into use last year, it was not until this year that it developed into an integral part of the educational program at East Noble. During the course of the year, over ninety per cent of the student body was given the privilege of being on Independent Study. Students could study or do projects on their own, or have consultations with their teachers. Often students worked in groups with their peers as they discussed a lesson. Gymnasium equipment was opened for the first time to people on their free time. Candy could be purchased and eaten in specified areas. Students who could not handle the responsibility of Independent Study time were in danger of losing their I.S. cards for a few days or weeks. In that case, they were placed in a supervised study area when their classes were not in session.

a chance to work alone or with friends

A little fun never hurt anyone, or so these seniors believe. During Senior Week the East Noble Seniors experienced for the first time the privilege of outdoor fun. They were free to do so only on I.S. time.

Extra time was spent by many in excelling at the work of their choice. The Biology department had numerous projects.

Miss Valma Gilliland listens to a tape being played to make sure everything is working properly. Many students found these machines helpful in doing their work.

The instructional material center, more commonly known as the library, has proved to be most helpful to the students who have used its many vital resources. The library has over 6,000 books on its shelves. These range from the classic to the most humorous. The center has over 25 different types of magazines for pleasure reading or for research on a current topic. Miss Valma Gilliland, librarian, finds that the most difficult job she has is to put all those books back on the shelves; so, this is where the assistants help her out a great deal.

Junior June Hershberger uses the Readers Guide to do her homework. This is one of many books found in the library that helps students find research materials in periodicals.

Pat Isaacs puts new book cards in the proper order so they will be easy to insert in the new books.

enhanced is chosen as pacemaker school

Mr. Gene Rhodes and Mrs. Ann Diggins served as head of the Kettering Foundation Project at East Noble this year.

East Noble High School was named as Indiana's "Pacemaker" in educational improvement in a nationwide school recognition project sponsored by the National Education Association and Parade, the Magazine section of the Sunday Newspaper. At the 105th annual N.E.A. Convention on July 5, the East Noble High School was given a citation for its flexible programming which emphasizes innovation and individual study. Parade Editor, Jess Gorkin, and N.E.A. President, Irvamae Applegate, cited E.N. and 23 other schools and school systems in the nation for "leading the way to better education for American Youth." East Noble also has received special recognition from the Kettering Foundation as being one of the nation's most "thoughtfully innovative schools." Mrs. Ann Diggins, and Mr. Gene Rhodes worked full time this year with the Kettering Foundation. Mrs. Diggins and Mr. Rhodes also were department chairmen in their respective departments; Mrs. Diggins in the English department and Mr. Rhodes in Science.

Two seniors, Jim Wedding and Tom Green, show an interest in their school by admiring the Pacemaker award which was granted to E.N. by Parade, the magazine section of the Sunday newspaper.

north central committee visits ENHS

East Noble High School was visited February sixth to ninth by an eleven member committee of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools in keeping with an association policy that every member school be re-evaluated every seven years. Mr. Robert Ayres, chairman of the committee, spoke to the students at an early Wednesday morning convocation. He told the students that they were here to evaluate and make suggestions and recommendations; not to find out what's wrong and to change it. The committee had a very heavy schedule and attended many meetings and classes. They talked to teachers and many students to get their opinions.

Mr. Mike Vass, Calumet High School, Gary, is discussing some of the observations he has made at East Noble with teacher Mr. Merland Beyler.

Summer workshops seem to be an important addition among many East Noble activities. Nine cheerleaders spent a week at Smith-Walbridge Camp; three journalism students spent two weeks at Ball State; and two student council members, as well as two audio-visual aids and five music students, spent a week in workshops at Indiana University. The Future Business Leaders of America toured many corporations and the Future Teachers of America, once again, sponsored the American Field Service Project. The South Side Gym was the sight for the East Noble Science Fair on March 9. The Letterman's Club held their first Christmas dance on December 23 and the Y-Teen's semi-formal dance was on February 3. An Octet was added to the chorus this year and the band scored well at the Indiana State Fair and Auburn Street Fair. The Scroll produced the school's first eight page newspapers and the 1967 Legend was awarded two First Class Honor Ratings. The Knights captured their first NEIAC football crown which highlighted the athletic scene this year and the National Honor Society held a party for all the honor societies in the area.

in rebuilding year

Co-captains Jack Ritchie and Dan Kelley lead the Pack during the conference meet at Shoaff Park in Ft. Wayne. The Knights finished with a well-deserved second place.

The East Noble Knights, under the talented coaching of Mr. Dave Bowers, completed another successful season while posting a 10—3 season record in regular dual meet action. The harriers also placed fourth in the sectional meet and managed a second place tie in the NEIAC conference meet.

Among those leading the team to success this year were co-captains Dan Kelley and Jack Ritchie. Kelley posted an average time of 10:23.1 for each two mile course. His best time, tops for the team, was 10:10. Ritchie, a junior, averaged 11:01.4 over the season.

Adding to the brightness of next season will be the returning of such runners as Doug Atz, Matt Luttmann, and Steve Kelley who, with Ritchie, are expected to form the nucleus of next year's team. Freshman Steve Kelley and his brother Dan both made the All-NEIAC team.

East Noble was able to capture first place in the annual Freshman-Sophomore Invitational with a low score of 46. New Haven was second in the twelve-team field with a distant 69.

End Mike Young is preparing to catch a very decisive touchdown pass during the DeKalb game. Young was the Knights leading pass receiver this year.

in second year

"Champs! Champs!" This was the chant East Noble students were yelling throughout the football campaign this season. Not since a decade ago had a Kendallville or East Noble football team won the conference title and never in the history of Kendallville had a team compiled a record equivalent to that of this year's powerful Knight Squad.

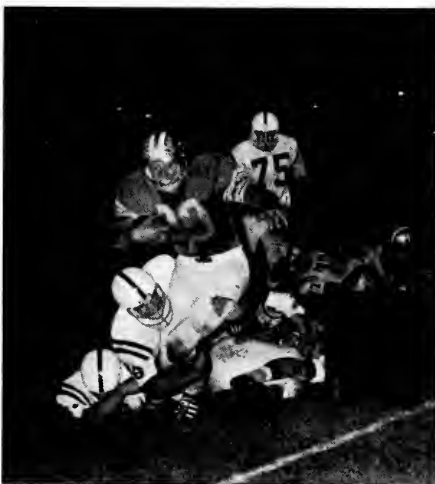

With an overall record of eight wins and two losses, the Knights displayed spirit, desire, and ability in overcoming 21 consecutive losses from two previous years of action. This year's team was tabbed as the team to beat in the conference race. After splitting its first four starts it finished the season with six straight victories and the NEIAC crown.

Many were cited for their outstanding performances during the season. Tackle Tom Green and halfback Gary Thrapp were named to the All-NEIAC First Team. Thrapp was also named to the UPI All-State Second Team as a halfback. Also, quarterback Stan Frazee, fullback Dude Holbrook, and center Frank Molarzik were named to All-conference Third Team. Those who received Honorable Mention were Brad Baker, Gary Housholder, and sophomore Scott Abbs.

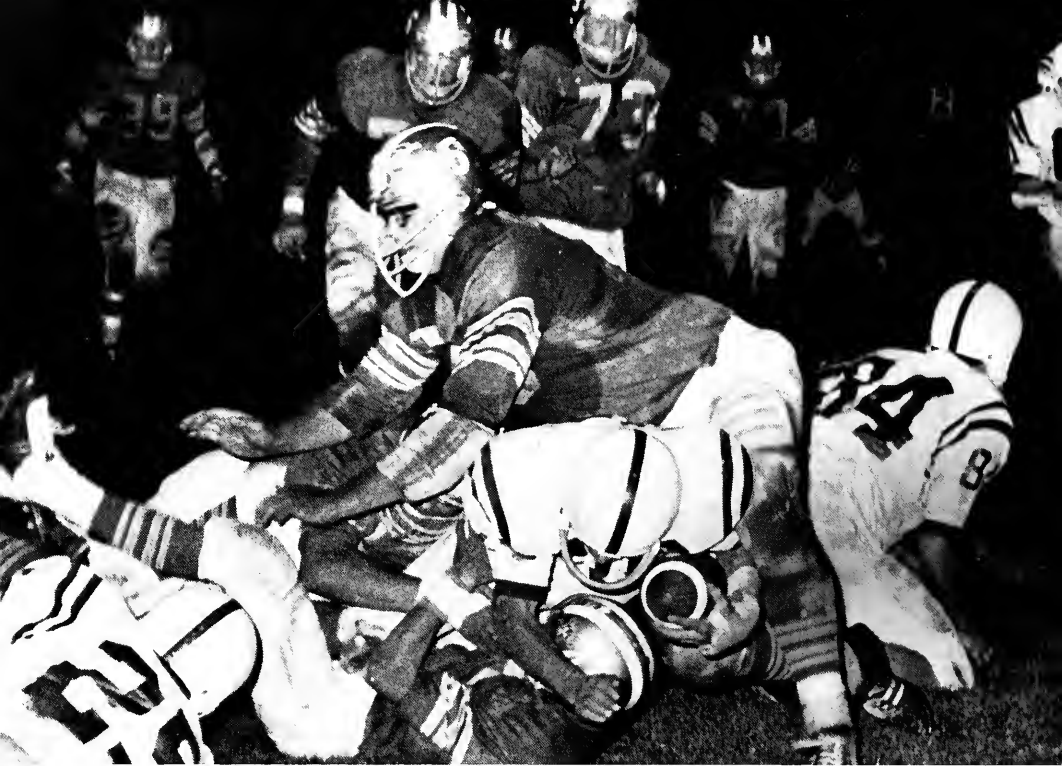

"Huddling up" for a pep talk just before the kick-off of the Garrett contest proved motivating as the Knights trounced their rivals 38-12.

Wes Herczeg, East Noble's powerful defensive end, throws a Columbia City opponent for a sizable loss.

Halfback Gary Thrapp is finally pulled down after several attempts by the tough Concordia defense.

Defensive tackle Lyman Holbrook checks a Concordia halfback for a small gain. East Nohle bowed to the Cadets 27-6 at Zollner Stadium during a conference tilt. Yielding only 12 points the second half of the season, the Knight's defensive unit proved a major factor in capturing their first conference title.

squires hit .500 mark during season

The outlook for the 1968 football campaign is optimistic. Although the varsity was hit hard by graduation, the junior varsity boasted many fine players with the type of burning desire that is needed to continue winning football. The Squires were constantly victim of Coach Casey's drafting techniques as this often upset team balance and harmony.

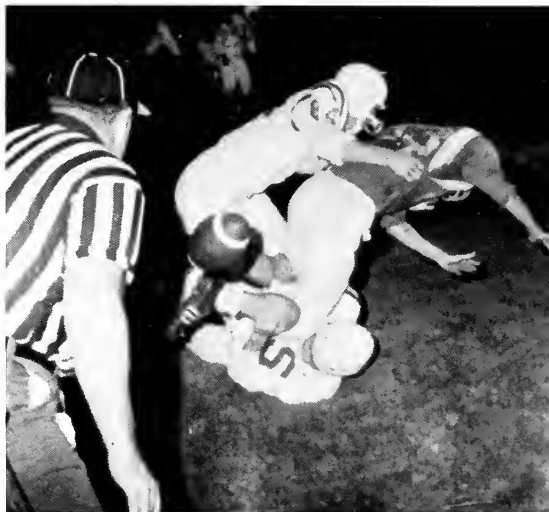

The Squires completed their 1967 campaign with a .500 mark. Among their accomplishments were downing Angola, Garrett, and West Noble's varsity squad. Sophomore Scott Abbs received Honorable Mention as a lineman and saw both varsity and junior varsity action.

Head Coach Casey, teamed with assistant coaches Fred Brokaw and Myron Dickerson, combined their talents to produce an outstanding football season. Finally overcoming asperity, Coach Casey completed his third season as head griddier with an NEIAC championship.

Terry Frick pulls down a West Noble ball carrier during a junior varsity game on Guymon Field. The Squires displayed great potential and promise in whipping the Charger squad 13-6.

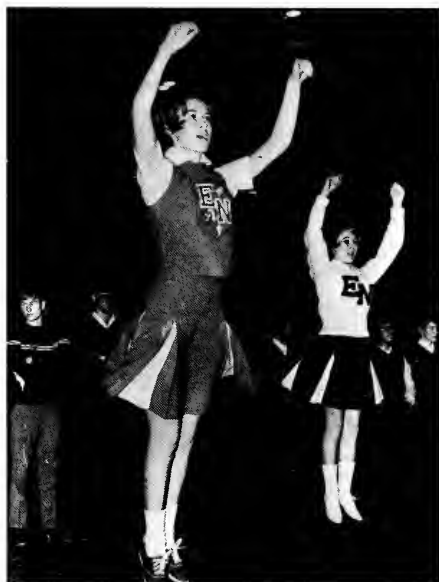

Halfback Cary Spidel fumbles the pigskin as he is pulled down during a junior varsity game with DeKalb. The Squires met defeat 20-14, however, only in the remaining few moments, as another such fumble diminished all hopes of victory.

student body enthusiasm is kept high

Varsity Cheerleaders Cathy Ream and Sandy Bianski show their skill and enthusiasm at the Hometown basketball game. East Noble won the game 52—49.

Cheerleaders Jackie Harbin and Dianne Treesh seem to be suspended in air as they lead a cheer at a pep session. In the background the football players, whom they are honoring, can be seen.

Corinne Donat, Carol Lombard, and Cindy Ruble stand behind Dianne Treesh as she does the splits. These girls composed the junior varsity cheerleading squad.

by cheerleaders

The cheerleaders, under the watchful eye of Mrs. Mary Wolf, have been very busy keeping the school spirit high. Their training began last summer when all of them attended Smith Walbridge Camp in Saracuse, Indiana. Everyday was filled with great excitement as the cheerleaders learned new yells and pom pom routines. Even after the girls came home from Camp, much practice made their yells almost perfect. Their unusual talent of doing the unpredictable made pep sessions come to life this year.

The varsity cheerleading team is composed of seniors Ann Fox, Cathy Ream and juniors Sandy Bianski, Jacki Harbin, and Susan Hile. Members of the junior varsity squad include Corinne Donat, Carol Lombard, Cindy Ruble and Dianne Treesh. The cheerleaders are chosen by the pep club on the basis of their skill the previous school year.

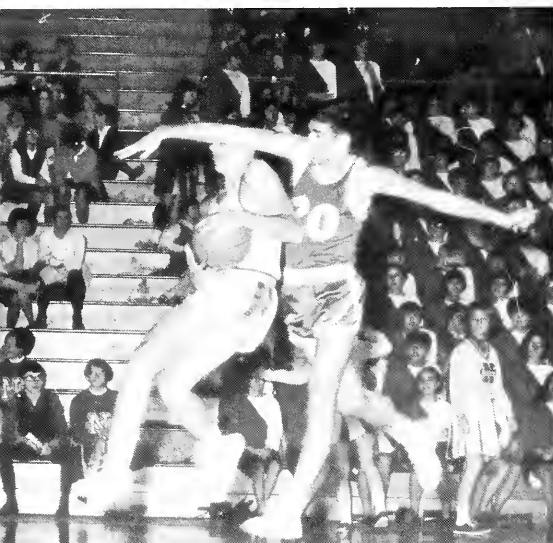

Anxiety, tension, and worry seem to be written all over the faces of the varsity cheerleaders. But hope for a Knight victory still remains.

Happiness is winning. Cries of joy were heard throughout the gymnasium as the varsity Knights handed the Belmont Braves a very important and exciting defeat. The score at the final gun was 87—77.

squires continue successful route

Squire guard, John Pepple, is fouled from behind as he attempts to out-manuever his Nappanee opponent.

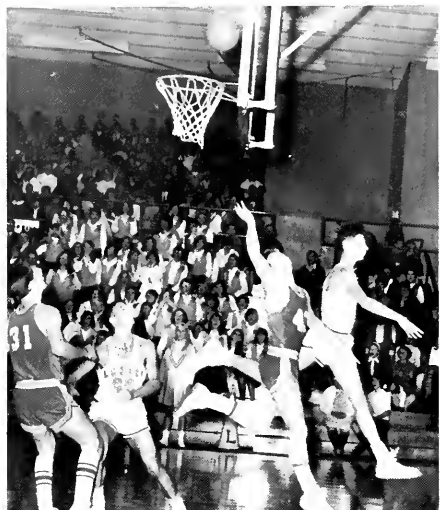

Tony Clifton, one of Coach Stavreti's leading rebounders, shoots a jumpshot for two.

As always, Coach Chris Stavreti has produced another top rate junior varsity squad. Compiling a 16 win 4 loss season record, the Squires combined their speedy offensive skills with an aggressive defense to smother 80% of their opponents. Coach Stavreti's Squires allowed their opponents only 526 points throughout the entire season which is an average of 26.3 points per game; while at the same time, the Squires tallied 876 points for an average of 43.8 points per game. Combining their height, speed, and agility, the junior varsity boys hope to provide the varsity with the type of desire needed to win.

High scoring seniors, Stan Frazee and Jim Petrie, along with Jack Ritchie, East Noble's versatile junior center, were cited for their performances during the 1967-68 basketball season by being chosen to the NEIAC honor squad. Although the Knights failed to defend their sectional title, they should return next year as favorites. Eight returning lettermen, including 6'7" Gary Huelsenback and 6'2" Jack Ritchie, plus a fine group of junior varsity boys who compiled a 16 win 4 loss record, will be on hand to provide East Noble fans with one of the best teams the area has seen.

Success is often measured in many ways and the Knights achieved success with the spirit of fair play and good sportsmanship. Although compiling a nine win, eleven loss regular season record for the season, Coach Racht's cagers tackled several top-ranked basketball threats. With only three returning lettermen, the young Knights continuously improved as the season progressed. They also finished eighth in the conference standings, winning two of their eight games. Jack Ritchie led all scorers this season with 218 points, just ahead of Stan Frazee with 205. Not far behind were Dave Spencer, 181; Jim Petrie, 166; and Rusty Summers, 107. In all respects, this year's squad has gained a great deal of experience and offers a bright future for basketball at East Noble with a fine crew to develop for next year's "Hoosier Hysteria."

East Noble's matmen, coached by Darrell Casey, completed their second season of wrestling this year with a seven win—seven loss record for regular season action. Lyman Holbrook compiled an individual season record of 22 wins and 2 losses, boosting his varsity career total to 30 wins and 4 losses. During the season, Lyman captured the heavyweight division in the conference match, the East Noble four-way tournament, and the sectional at Elkhart. Senior Jim Klinger also won his weight class at the East Noble Tourney and was chosen honorary captain of the 1967-68 squad by the team. Kent Thompson, another senior, plagued with injuries throughout the season, turned in many fine performances taking a second at the conference match and the East Noble tournament. Only four of the twelve weight divisions were occupied by seniors this year, which indicates an experienced group of wrestlers returning for the 1968-69 campaign.

Undeclared for the second consecutive season of regular dual and triangular meet action, Coach Dave Bower's cindermen also repeated as Goshen Relays Class B. Champions and recaptured the NEIAC crown. Although the Knights failed to win the Elkhart Track sectional, they scored 37 points to secure second place honors next to Elkhart. Those who qualified for the Fort Wayne regional are Dan Ihrie in the 100 yard dash and the 220, sophomore miler, Gary Spidel, and junior Jack Ritchie in both hurdle events. Gary Thrapp and Stan Frazee both qualified in the pole vault. The Blue and Gold 880 yard relay team got a first place, and the mile relay team placed third. At the Fort Wayne regional, East Noble, with 18 points, was only four off of the winning pace set by Marion with 22, to cope third place in the meet. Dan Ihrie placed fourth in the 220 yard dash, Jack Ritchie finished first in the high hurdles and placed second in the lows, and Gary Thrapp qualified with a first in the pole vault with a new Indiana State prep record of 15'1/2". Team captains for the track team this year were Gary Thrapp, Dan Ihrie, and Dave Spencer.

Coaches Stavreti and Dickerson study the situation with intense concern.

Although posting a six win—eleven loss season record, the East Noble diamondmen managed a three win—six loss slate for an eighth place position in the conference race. Hoping to improve on this year's conference and season marks, Coaches Chris Stavreti and Myron Dickerson have entered East Noble in the newly formed Northeast Indiana and Michigan Summer Baseball League.

disappointing year plagues golfers

East Noble's golf squad experienced their first unsuccessful season in many years during their 1968 campaign. Unfortunate circumstances forced Coach Gene Racht's golfers to forfeit all their matches after compiling an unofficial season record of six wins and twelve losses, and before the discovery of an ineligible team member. Despite the dissappointments and discouragements, the golfers hope to make a tremendous rebound next season with fourteen of the seventeen team members returning. Senior Mike Young led the squad with 41 9/13. Next was John Seidel, another senior, with an average of 42 15/19, followed by freshman Tom Radcliffe with 43 7/18. Others who will be working for a top flight position on next years golf team are Rick Redman, 46 9/14; Marc Atz, 46 2/3; Steve Desper, 48 7/10; Jim Smith, 48 6/7; Tom Slagle, 49 1/2; Bill Fylstra, 51; Tim Marshall, 51; Tim Marshall (So.) 54; Mike Bruce, 56 1/2. Only one golf record was shattered this year when Mike Young broke the existing home course record with a mark of 37.

This year the East Noble Marching Band was under the direction of Mr. Philip Zent. Last August, the marching band practiced daily to prepare themselves for the three minute routine which they played at the Indiana State Fair. Also in August, the band participated in the Noble County 4-H Parade. East Noble tied for first place with West Noble for performance. East Noble received the trophy while West Noble got the banner. East Noble's Marching Band also marched in the Auburn Street Parade during the Auburn Fair. The band has been at all the football games playing their routines at the beginning and half time of the games.

This year the East Noble Pom-Pom girls and the Twirlers were sponsored by Mr. Philip Zent. The Pom-Pom girls numbered eighteen. Mari Su Hastreiter and Stephanie Forker, who attended summer camp a week at Vincennes, planned the game cheers. The six East Noble Twirlers performed at football and basketball games plus the WOWO Air Aces game at East Noble. Pam Durbin, Judy Chaffee, and Cindy Ream attended summer camp at Purdue University to learn skills. Terry Durbin and Dedra Putt went to Smith Walbridge Camp at Syracuse, Indiana. The group made all the outfits for their routines. Both groups had a very successful year. The Pom-Pom girls ended their year on March thirtieth with a routine done at the "Changing Season's" Concert. Senior Jerry Leitch supplied the comedy for the group during the special concert.

The East Noble Twirlers this year were Dedra Putt, Pam Durbin, Cindy Ream, Cathy Huff, Judy Chaffee, and Karen Fischer.

This year the East Noble Pep Club was sponsored by Mrs. Mary Wolf. Officers this year included Nancy Countryman, president; Marsha Hosted and Candy Rogers, vice-presidents; and Linda Nash, secretary-treasurer. The new outfits this year were gold cotton culottes and vests with white long-sleeved blouses and sweatsocks. Other accessories were blue gym shoes and pom poms. Blue gloves were purchased special for the tourney. On December twenty-third the Lettermen's Club and the Pep Club had a combined semi-formal dance. On February twenty-ninth the Pep Club had an informal senior farewell. Games were played in the gym for an hour. Then the girls had a buffet chicken supper. The season started with over one hundred and forty-five members participating in the club's activities.

LETTERMAN'S CLUB OFFICERS AND SPONSOR: Gary Thrapp, President; Mr. John Reed, Athletic Director; Rusty Summers, Secretary-Treasurer; Brad Baker, Vice-President.

The Lettermen's Club is an organization consisting of all varsity letter winners and open to boys who want to excel or show a genuine interest in athletics at East Noble. Under the direction of Mr. John Reed, athletic director, the Letterman's Club sponsored various events throughout the year. Perhaps the biggest social event of the year for the Lettermen was the newly adopted Christmas Dance held on December 23 with more than ninety-five couples attending and making the exciting evening a great success. Formerly, the Club held its semi-formal each spring, however, with the major sports completed, enthusiasm for a spring dance was low and resulted in poor attendance. On Wednesday, May 22, the All-Sports Banquet was held in the East Noble cafeteria. Mr. Ray Louthen, head baseball coach at Ball State University and a former New York Yankee, was special guest speaker. After awards were given by each coach to letter winners, the evening was highlighted with the presentation of the O.O. "Pop" Guymon Senior Athlete of the Year Award.

The Letterman's Club held their annual social event of the year on December 23, 1967 with a semi-formal Christmas dance. Pep Club members were also invited as guests and over 90 couples helped make the evening one of the most successful and enjoyable athletic dances in many years. Dick Brown and His Orchestra performed for the dance. Refreshments, consisting of punch and Christmas cookies, were served. After the dance, many couples enjoyed a late dinner at various restaurants in the Fort Wayne area.

Beth Wolford and date, Jim Klinger, were one of the 105 couples that attended the Y-teens Valentine dance. The music was provided by the New Haven Dance Band.

On February 3, the Y-Teens sponsored their annual semi-formal dance in the cafeteria. One hundred five couples enjoyed an evening of dancing with the entertainment provided by the New Haven High School dance band. Refreshments were prepared and served by the East Noble cooks. Valentines Day suggested the theme for this year's dance, which was "Silhouettes." The cafeteria was carefully decorated with several large red hearts trimmed in white lace, and favors of candy hearts were placed at each table.

Major contributions were to the American Field Service, American Foundation for the Blind, and the Student Council Knight Fund. The Forensics Club of East Noble began its second year with 15 enthusiastic members under the supervision of Mr. Robert Farmer. The purpose of the Forensics Club is to help interested members to learn the art of speaking. This year the members traveled to such schools as New Haven, Columbia City, and South Bend Clay to participate in contests. For their efforts, two members received high honors. Bobbie Clark received two first place awards in poetry reading and Cheryl Crum received second place in original oratory. The Forensics Club meets the first and third Wednesdays of each month with Mr. Farmer serving as sponsor and speech coach. A goal of this year's club is to have an increase in membership for next year. dramatists present "one foot in heaven"

On November 10 and 11, the Drama Club presented Hartzell Spence's "One Foot In Heaven." Taking place in the little town of Laketon, Iowa, about 1910, Reverend William Spence has just arrived to fill the vacant pulpit of the parsonage after being transferred. While there, he meets the inevitable pressures applied by Mrs. Sandow who, in the memory of her late, beloved husband, supplies the supporting funds for the church and its activities. Reluctant to make a move without Mrs. Sandow's approval, Rev. Spence finally overcomes his inability to communicate with Mrs. Sandow and persuades her that she should live in the present and devote her efforts to improve the church and its welfare.

(Prologue and Narration)

Denny Graft

Bob Zehr, as Rev. William Spence, and Cyndee Franklin, as Mrs. Sandow, are engaged in an argument as the Drama Club presented "One Foot In Heaven."

Director and sponsor of all play productions, Mr. Newton gives last minute instructions before a dress rehearsal for "One Foot in Heaven."

Eileen and Hartzell, played by Becky Harp and Phil Troyer, practice dancing while Ronny, Loren Heinlen, strums his guitar.

Each spring, with great success and tradition, the Drama Club presents a musical. With equal success and excitement, the Drama students presented OLIVER, a musical drama expressing the various moods of a young orphan boy, Oliver Twist, who is sold to an undertaker and is beaten and mistreated. As a result, young Oliver runs away in search of the love his parents had neglected to give him. However, in the process, he is subdued by a gang of thieves and, consequently, taught the trade of pick-pocketing. In desperation, Oliver again tries purse snatching; however, this time he is not so lucky and is caught. But as fate plays its unsuspecting hand, the man who Oliver tried to pick-pocket turns out to be Mr. Brownlow, Oliver's long lost rich uncle, who had been searching for Oliver for quite some time. Once home again, Mr. Brownlow teaches Oliver the virtues of right over wrong so that he may someday establish himself as a prominent young man. At any rate, Oliver lives happily-ever-after.

Fagin, Bob Zehr, plays a thief in "Oliver" as he tries to corrupt Oliver Twist, played by Pat Butterbaugh. Observing the action is Loren Heinlen as The Artful Dodger, Bruce Brown as Bill Sikes, and Nancy Holler as Nancy.

Senior Bob Zehr played Fagin in the spring musical and has had major parts throughout his career in Drama Club. Bob is a 3 year member of Thespian Troupe 1106.

band honored with four state entries

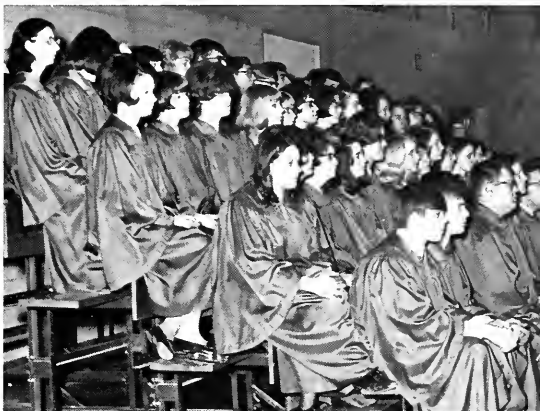

The East Noble Knight Band began its year with a performance at the Noble County Fair. Next on their schedule were performances at the Indiana State Fair and Auburn Fair. Officers were elected as follows: President, Mary Ulrey; Secretary, Linda Brennan; Manager, Roger Bryie; Assistant Manager, Steve Bahls; Publicity, Bernard Smith; Librarians, Sue Reiske and Diane Padgitt. The band also provided entertainment for the home basketball and football games, and marched in the Merchants Christmas Parade and the Memorial Day Parade. Their Fall and Spring Concerts were presented jointly with the mixed choir, while the Winter Concert was with the Junior High combined bands. An excellent rating was their outcome of the NISBOVA Band Concert, while state soloists Mary Ulrey and Ron Hoot received a first place and second place rating respectively. Bernard Smith and Roger Bryie were this year's seniors to be honored at the Band Banquet. As the year closes, Commencement will be their last performance.

Drummers Mark Shank, Gary McKinley, and Dick Wells beat the rhythm as the band practices for a performance.

chorus has new professional look

The chorus performed three times during the year. The Christmas and Spring Concerts were presented jointly with the band. In March they performed "The Crucifixion" with the help of soloists Mr. Bob Swisher and Mr. Ray Seivert. In November they surprised Mr. Meadows with a birthday cake and song. With the closing of May they honored the seniors at a party. The officers for the year were: President, Bob Zehr; Vice-President, Cherris Barker; Secretary, Beverly Hoot; Librarians, Judy Bender and Jerry Leitch. Rotating the position of pianist were Bev Hoot, Jeff Robinson, and Bob Zehr. The mixed chorus took a professional outlook this year under the guidance of Mr. John Meadows. Mr. Meadows is a tenor and has sung with such groups as the American Opera Society, Robert Shaw, Bach Aria, Schola Cantorium, and the Camerata Singers.

Seemingly endless thoughts accompanied feelings of fear, anxiety, and hope as the mixed chorus awaited their moment of performance.

students learn business in fbla

Future Business Leaders of America is a club that helps students to get a better idea of how businesses are operated. The meetings are held on the first and third Wednesday of each month. Most of the programs consisted of guest speakers from area businesses. The speakers told of the problems of a business. They explained how to apply for a job and how to keep the job once it is gotten. The main highlight of the year was planning a trip to Detroit and the General Motors Corporation and Hudson's Department Store. The club also decided to give degrees out to the senior members this year. The girls got gold charms and the boys received tie tacs.

fta hosts area conference meeting

The Future Teachers at East Noble had a year filled with many ambitious tasks: the annual scrapebook, hostess of the area conference meeting, and the state meeting at Arlington High School in Indianapolis. This year the members visited area schools to observe classroom activities; and the senior members did some actual teaching of the classes. The meetings were held on the second and fourth Wednesdays of each month. Sponsors, Miss Valma Gilliland and Mr. Keith Stouder, arranged a parent night in Avilla, and a senior farewell at V & A this year. The main purpose of the club is to promote general knowledge about teaching.

Are these enough advertisements? Is this the right picture? What color should this picture be? Is the picture of good quality? These are only a few of the many problems that faced the '68 Legend staff as the deadline date approached. Much hard work and many long hours go into the making of a yearbook and this year was no exception. To try to improve on the '67's first place rating, three members of the staff were sent to a yearbook workshop at Ball State University from July 30th to August 12th. These members were Evelyn Sutton, Theresa Cousino, and Barbara Slone. Barbara was chosen editor of the '68 Legend.

In only two years of existence the Scroll has done a fine job of keeping the students informed with news and happenings around East Noble. This year, in addition to publishing the paper weekly, the staff put out seven eight-page editions. In these eight-page editions the Student Council sponsored a page to keep the students informed on its work and activities for the school. Editor Kevin Lewis had several assistant editors to help with the paper: News editor, Ann Fox; feature editor, Nancy Holler; Tom Green was sports editor and Becky Donat was the business manager. There were 12 additional members on the Scroll staff. This year the staff decided that the paper should be sent in to the National Scholastic Press Association to be rated.

The East Noble National Honor Society began the 1967-68 school year with eight members. Officers were elected as follows: President, Don Fylstra; Vice-President, Bob Zehr; Secretary, Cathy Ream; Treasurer, Wanda Whonsetler. Under the supervision of Mr. Clark Filley, the society planned a host meeting for DeKalb and Garrett schools. In April, fourteen new members were tagged, these being: Brad Baker, Sue Bassett, Larry Cochard, Dan Fox, Margie Holsinger, Dave Kurtz, Don Peterson, Bruce Riehm, Charna Smith, Rusty Summers, Barb Swartzlander, Greg Todd, Mary Ulrey, Beth Wolford. Their parents were invited to the formal induction ceremony. One of the many plans the Student Council had this past year was having a parade. They were planning to end the parade at the football field with a bonfire. It was a great idea except the weatherman did not agree.

Just before Christmas they had a penny-pitch and turned the sum of $90.05 into WOWO. The money went to a needy family in this area.

In honor of the foreign exchange student, Helene Veiret, the Council had a pot luck dinner just before the dance they sponsored.

During the second semester the Council sponsored two dances to make money for the purchasing of a suit of armor for East Noble High.

Remember the section in the "Scroll" called "The Knight's Round Table?" It was sponsored by the Student Council and was published seven times during this past year. In this way the students of East Noble were always briefed on all that was happening.

Diane Atz, Student Council President, informs Mr. Tritch of some of the many plans of the Council.

The junior-senior prom, "Through the Looking Glass," was held May 17 at the high school gymnasium. It began at 7:00 o'clock with the grand march, led by junior class president Evan Lash and his date Chris Garman. Immediately following the grand march was a smorgasbord, prepared by the E. N. cafeteria staff. The menu consisted of three kinds of meat, salads, mashed potatoes, corn, and strawberry tortes were served as dessert. The tables were decorated with one red rose and a small mirror that served as a name card. The gym was decorated with giant playing cards on the walls and a colorful canopy which was hung from the ceiling. Entertainment was provided by the Ball State Band and Chorus, and Becky Donat sang "I Could Have Danced All Night" and "Somewhere" from Westside Story. The evening ended when many of the couples attended "The Traveling Saleslady" starring Phyllis Diller at the Strand Theater. For others the evening ended with parties held by fellow classmates and teachers.

Progress is made in academics and at East Noble this is most true. Since many of the graduates go on to higher learning in some form, East Noble offers many college preparatory courses such as advanced high school mathematics, higher degrees of English and literature, and advanced biology for students who show an interest in those fields. The Independent Study students have many opportunities to use the different audio-visual instruments available to them, plus the use of laboratories and the latest in equipment. In large group lectures, teachers present the material to the students so that in small group the students will be ready to discuss the material and ask questions concerning the lecture. A few of the classes are meeting on a more college level with the teacher giving the students an assignment and having it due on a given date. Each member of the class comes in for a conference with the teacher who checks with the student. This makes the students more aware of the responsibility they are expected to have. It also encourages them to study on their own. Since some of the students do not go on to higher education, East Noble also offers courses to help them. In these courses, the students learn a trade or a skill and should be ready to obtain a good job after graduation. In extensive stenographic laboratory, girls learn to be secretaries, general office helpers, stenographers, and receptionists. In the vocational machine shops, boys repair and operate automobiles and machines. In all the other courses taught at East Noble, students learn from the best academic facilities around.

The second annual Senior Honors Day was held on Tuesday, May 28 in the E. N. gymnasium. With all seniors attired in caps and gowns, the traditional graduation activities began. The program was opened with the pledge to the flag led by Brad Baker and Don Peterson. After the pledge to the flag, a presentation of awards was given. The awards and scholarships were given mostly by local sororities and clubs. Two E.N. seniors received outstanding awards for their work. Bill Bently received the National Merit Commendation Certificate for being a finalist in the International Science Fair. He also received the Alpha Associate Unit of Tri Kappa Award for salutatorian. Linda Helmer was the first local senior ever to receive the Scholastic Writing Award with her short story "The Winds of Change." On behalf of the senior class, Mike Anderson, president, presented the school with an activities announcement board, which will be placed in front of the building. Mike also gave a challenge to the underclassmen. The Second Annual Senior Honors Day ended with the singing of the East Noble High School hymn.

ceived many other awards, one of which was for his project that won a superior rating at the National Science Fair.

Fine arts programs provide outlet

Under the direction of John Meadows, the East Noble Chorus put on a Christmas and Spring Concert. This year E.N. had a folk singing group, "The Changing Seasons." The group sang for several organizations during the year and they also performed on a special television program.

Don Moore, art instructor, kept his art students busy with different shows for the entire student body to enjoy, such as "The Pot In," and "The Happening." "The Pot In" was a demonstration on the Potters wheel and "The Happening" consisted of colored lights and psychedelic art. One art student, Jack Smart, won several monetary awards because of his efforts in an Art Correspondence School.

For the first time The Marching Knights, under the direction of Phillip Zent, were entered in Class A and received a fifth place at the Auburn Parade. They also held concerts for the public to enjoy and played at football and basketball games. Mary Ulrey, a junior band student, took a trip to Europe last summer with The Purdue All Star Band.

Mr. Meadows directs the 9th and 10th module girls' choir as they prepare to sing "Downtown." East Noble also has a fine Mixed Chorus and a 13th and 14th module girls' choir.

Jerry Leitch is shown at "The Happening," which consisted of colored lights and pictures. The art classes put on several shows for the East Noble students to enjoy on their I.S. time. Another special project sponsored by the art department was the publication of the "Horn," a creative writing paper for East Noble students. It was operated on a voluntary basis.

many phases of art provide variety

Art students worked in several areas during their time of independent work as well as periods of assigned activity. About one-fourth of the time was spent on figure drawing or in lectures on art history or theory. The remainder of time was spent in painting, sculpture, jewelry, ceramics or some form of drawing. Students worked during independent study in various fields. Bruce Bolinger completed several sculptures in clay, stone, and metal; Kathy Adams worked independently in jewelry; Jane Meyer did a portrait of Claudia Knott. Several students not enrolled in art also spent their free time in the department.

The many guest speakers this year included Mr. Arthur Mapes, Rev. Warren Otter, Rev. Pifer, Professor Muessling from Indiana Technology, Mr. Gene Rhodes, Marine Dan Schuricht, and newspaperman Mr. William West. At East Noble there are ten English courses in which students are enrolled. There are a total of seven hundred and seventy people taking speech, literature, composition and journalism classes. However, because there are some people enrolled in more than one course, there are not seven hundred and seventy different people.

Poet Arthur Franklin Mapes is showing a record which includes his poem "Indiana" to Junior Wesley Herczeg.

The last six weeks was spent in teaching the students the fundamentals of debating. Morning announcements was also a responsibility of the speech class. Sophomores are introduced to speech in their English classes.

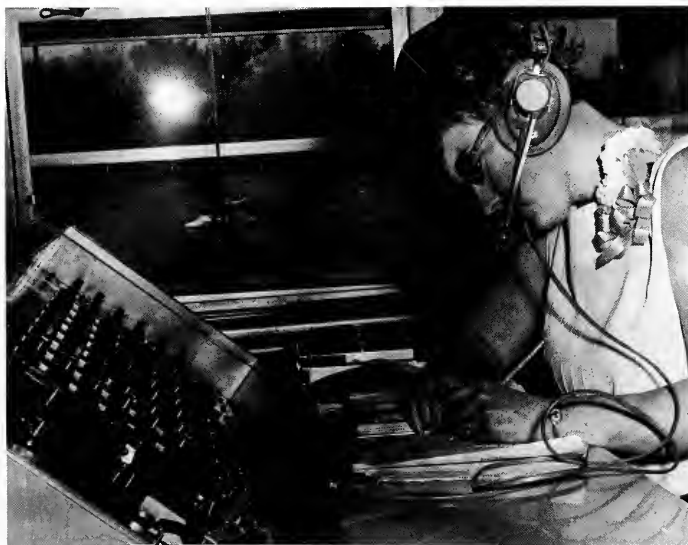

students benefit from language lab

Extensive oral practice, presentation of conversations, answering of oral questions, writing French from dictation, reading about actual French families and situations, and writing exercises to practice grammar skills were the methods used to teach French by Mrs. Nancy Malone. There were many materials used in addition to texts in both French and Spanish classes. Materials included the language lab, tape recorder, tapes, filmstrips, film, maps, charts, workbooks, supplementary material and a monthly magazine. Mr. Charles Kidd, Spanish Teacher, is "very good" according to a sophomore who visited here from South America. She said he was the only American Spanish teacher she could understand when he talked to her in Spanish.

The students this year have worked very hard on science projects, one of which was the science fair. At the regional science fair at Angola Bill Bently was named one of the two top exhibitors for which he won a four day trip in May to the National Science Fair in Detroit. He received a first in engineering, electronics and communications, and the air force award. Other winners included Sandy Schmidt and Jane Pankop, third place; Rita Nodine, fourth place; Don Stallman, fourth place; Nancy Hague, fifth place. At the local science fair nine East Noble students received a first place rating.

The head of the social studies department is Mr. Dale Reade. Teachers in the department are Mr. David Bowers, Mr. Richard Eastridge, Mr. Clark Filley, and Mrs. Sandra Fischer. Government and history students have heard many guest speakers this year. Several times this year, when there was an overload of students to hear a guest lecturer, students have moved to adjacent rooms to watch him on closed circuit television. Government students put their knowledge into practice by having class activities such as political elections and jury trials. During history classes, a student picks and leads the discussion for the hour. On IS students may pick one of three lanes—book reports, reports, and term papers which they complete during the six weeks period.

In December, fourteen Algebra II and college preparatory math students were given instructions in programming and operation of computers by two students from Tri-State College. The following Saturday, the students spent the afternoon at Tri-State writing programs and operating the computer under the supervision of Mr. James Weiss.

Learning to cook was one of the many skills taught this year in Home Economics. Mrs. Karen Casey and Mrs. Dorothy Koons the two teachers in the department, taught sewing, home nursing, decorating and home management. In home nursing something new was tried; a life size doll was purchased, and named Baby Jane by the students. By handling the doll the students learned how to dress, bathe and hold a real baby. The students in home nursing also were awarded Red Cross Home Nursing pins. The girls in Home Economics first year, experimented with different kinds of vegetables and puddings during their lab classes. This was the first year Home Economics class was on flexible scheduling. Mrs. Koons and Mrs. Casey said they would like flexible scheduling to continue, it was very helpful to them. May 28 a style show took place.

The advanced physical education class gave Miss Oury six long stemmed red roses to show their appreciation when she left. This year, under the direction of Mr. Gordon Bloom, the East Noble Agriculture Department offered 60 students training in three different areas. In the first area, soils and crops, the student becomes acquainted with the various production practices of farm crops grown in this area. The animal science course deals with the basic sciences and management practices in the areas of beef, sheep, poultry, and dairy enterprises. Farm management, the remaining course, is concerned with farm management and agricultural prices. In each of these courses students spend many weeks in the agricultural mechanics shop. This time is devoted to farm machinery and the building of projects for the students own personal use. This year East Noble had a unique first by enrolling two girls, Sandy Lovett a senior and Patsy Uhl a senior, in the animal science course.

Trade and industrial education is found in two areas—vocational auto mechanics, which is taught by Mr. Harold Charles, and vocational machines which is taught by Mr. Myron Dickerson. The teachers in the industrial arts department are Mr. Merland Beyler, head; Mr. Harold Charles and Mr. Darrell Casey, who teaches drafting. In the drafting classes this year the students made house plans and made a small model town.

Reverend Kenneth Napier, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Kendallville, delivered the address entitled "Three Inescapable Temptations." The evening of Thursday, June 6, was graduation night for the seniors. It was a typical night—yet it held sadness and expectancy for the Class of 1968. The invocation was presented by the Reverend James Lantz of the Calvary United Methodist Church in Avilla. The address was presented by Reverend Joseph G. The most important commodity of any school is the people who make the school. The students of East Noble 1967-1968 are fun loving, yet serious people who are proud of their school and the community of which it is a vital part. It is the people of the school who put the winning basket in or score the winning touchdown. It's the students who make the A's and take part in extra activities. It is the band and chorus which put on an excellent Christmas program for the entire student body. It is the Drama Club that puts on a fall play and a spring musical for the whole community. Many students make individual contributions to the school and community. Gary Thrapp made the second team in the state for football this year, the first time in the history of Kendallville or East Noble. Don Peterson has certainly proved his ability in swimming. Mike Anderson scored in the upper one per cent of the nation in math, which is something every one can be proud of. Although it takes many things to make a school, it is the people who give it the warm, friendly, happy atmosphere that is certainly shown at East Noble High School.

senior week honors class of 1968

The Class of 1968 was honored with Senior Week prior to the prom. Monday the seniors replaced the faculty; Wednesday was dress-up; Thursday featured a senior picnic; while Thursday and Friday gave the seniors outdoor I.S. privileges. School was dismissed at 11:00 Friday in preparation for the prom. The class officers: President, Mike Anderson; Vice-President, Kevin Lewis; Secretary, Linda Brennan; and Treasurer, Cindy Huff, along with the Student Council, worked to start this new tradition at East Noble. Sponsor Mr. Gerald Zimmerman assisted with the necessities of the seniors: ordering announcements, measuring for caps and gowns, and other general supervision. The Senior Arcade or class party and the sponsorship of the telephone call of Helene Veiret, French Exchange Student, to her home are among some of the unforgettable memories. With Baccalaureate June 2 and Commencement June 6 the seniors are preparing their gift to remain at East Noble, this being an announcement sign to be installed in front of the gym.

Acting principal, Mr. Mike Anderson, consults with "assistant principal" Miss Diane Atz on the daily activities.

Cindy Franklin asks Mr. Jack Young a last minute question in preparation for the Chemistry lecture the next module. Cindy took Mr. Young's classes for one day.

Mr. Philip Zent, portrayed by Bernard Smith, leads the band in class rehearsal for their coming concert.

juniors carry on traditional sales

The class of '69 started the school year with anxiety and enthusiasm. The first event was the annual magazine sale, which grossed a profit of $3,200. Examining all qualifications, in October the Juniors elected these officers to lead their class: President, Evan Lash; Vice-President, Larry Cochard; Secretary, Pam Durbin; and Treasurer, Margie Holsinger. Under the guidance of Mrs. William Meyer, plans were begun for the prom which was to be held May 17. Also in October class rings were ordered. The long-awaited day finally arrived December 14 when it was announced that the rings had arrived at Swartzlander's Jewelry. With two years behind them, and one yet to come, Juniors realized that little time was left to prepare them for the world.

Dave Kurtz counts the profit money from the junior magazine sales for the final time. The money was used to finance the annual Junior-Senior Prom. Dave was chosen to be receipts manager of the campaign.

junior rings keep symbol of east noble

Six juniors proudly display their new class rings. This year it was announced that all East Noble rings would be the same style with a variety of colors for the students to choose.

sophs take time to adjust to en

Confusion and excitement were apparent as the Sophomores began their first year at East Noble High. Time seemed to fly, and gradually the Class of "70" became accustomed to the building and innovative educational system. Organization started the Sophomores moving in October when class officers were elected, these being: President, Gary Klinger; Vice-President, Cindi Traxler; Secretary, Pam Barker; Treasurer, Debbie Roush. Later that month the enthusiasm reached its peak when class jackets were ordered. The colors decided upon were brown and tan, with the letters being tan. They arrived at Deihl's Sporting Goods on January 4, 1968. Under the guidance of Mr. Charles Kidd and Mr. William Meyer two class parties were planned, with the first being held in January.

Sophomore Ed Long lends a helping hand to his classmate Rich Ligman. After learning the design of East Noble, perhaps the most difficult task lies ahead: that of adjusting to the new environment, teachers, and friends.

Principal Mr. Tritch and vice principal Mr. Brewer discuss some of the activities scheduled for the day.

East Noble was the recipient of a 1967 Pacemaker award, making it one of 25 such schools in the nation. As a Pacemaker, East Noble is leading the way to a better education for all. The administration and school board, led by superintendent Mr. Edgar B. Redman, not only have given the best in education, but have helped the school with other problems both personal and academic. The school holds a first class commission from the State Department of Education and is a member of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. Many plans for further improvement have been discussed by the school leaders. Expansion plans are being considered for several of the junior high schools. East Noble will be getting a new track and field.

east noble and its teachers extend

The East Noble Teachers opened their classrooms to many IDEA visitors this year. Approximately 100 visitors toured the building a week, and a panel answered their many questions. The 1968 Faculty consisted of 43 members. Of these there were nine new members, these being: Mrs. Sandra Fischer, Mrs. Claudette Herrman, Mrs. Martha Meyer, Mr. Myron Dickerson, Mr. Robert Farmer, Mr. Richard Finley, Mr. William Meyer, Mr. John Meadows, and Mr. James Schuller. After a survey it was discovered that Miss Valma Gilliland has worked the longest in the East Noble School Corporation, serving 26 years. Having graduated from Ball State in August of 1967, Mr. Robert Farmer was the newest arrival. Twenty-two teachers have Masters Degrees, and the most popular college was Ball State, with fourteen degrees from there.

calamities, and clickity-clacks

The East Noble School Corporation is kept running smoothly by people who at times are taken for granted. The corporation hired fifteen secretaries, forty-nine cooks, eighteen custodians, and thirty-four bus drivers. All of these people play an important role in education. Not many students realize that this year the high school alone employed thirty-six workers which included four secretaries, two para-professionals, fifteen cooks, eleven bus drivers, and four custodians. The secretaries were kept busy in the front office and helping teachers. The cooks were always "happy" to receive any suggestions from the students. The bus drivers put up with all of the boisterous behavior. The custodians worked hard to keep the new building clean and in good repair. Part of their duties included turning down the heat and putting on the cool.

John Bloomfield is one of the many busdrivers of East Noble, that keep the kids coming to school.

The custodians are; Jessie Wagner, Raymond Moore, Marion Strayer, (matron) Florence Dewitt, and Clyde Martin.

These ladies, Mrs. Vivian Pankoff and Mrs. Marie Lehner, were called "para-professionals" and they assisted in various areas, from selling at the bookstore to watching study hall in the non-independent study area.

Editor Barb Slone remembers all the fun and work it took to make the '68 Legend a book for everyone to remember.

Sixty-eight was the year for going, and what a year it was. One can certainly observe this when he leafs through these pages and sees "Knights capture 1968 NEIAC football championship." "East Noble wins Goshen relays class "B" title." "Track team grabs conference championship." Senior Gary Trapp set a state record in pole vaulting at 15'1/2". Junior Don Peterson has won numerous awards for his swimming abilities in national competition. In the scholastic area, senior Mike Anderson was granted a National Merit Scholarship and an AEP Scholarship. Linda Helmer won a national award for a short story. She was one of 10,000 entries. Senior Bill Bently was a finalist in the international science fair and won a cash award from the patent office. Twelve of the students known as the "Changing Seasons" sang on WPTA television on November 30. The musical this year, Oliver, was a smash and ran for two weekends. The '68 Legend staff has worked hard in trying to present these and all other accomplishments of the year. Although this is only a brief history of the year, it has all the ingredients to last a life time.
